To Whom It May Concern,

Felicia Young Ministries is not an ordinary non-for profit organization. Instead, it is a movement created to build the lives of women through education and resources.

As the Operations Manager for Gulf Coast Community Services Association (GCCSA), I was blessed to experience firsthand the impact Felicia Young Ministries (FYM) has made in the lives of women. During the kick-off for the "Here and Now" event, Ms. Young and her team provided our ladies with blankets, inspired them with a powerful testimony and invited them to attend her Annual Mother's Day Golf Tournament.

During the Mother's Day Golf Tournament, our women were brought to tears as they enjoyed a day of testimonies from women with similar experiences and addictions. They were encouraged through the words of Vincent Young; they received beautiful jewelry gifts sets, ate delicious food and felt the experience was one in a lifetime and noteworthy of encouraging them to change. These women currently live in poverty. They were inspired and encouraged to focus on what they need to do to empower themselves moving forward.

FYM is a real ministry that goes out into the communities to reach women addicted to drugs, victims of domestic violence and lost souls while attempting to save them from themselves and their environment. Ms. Young is willing to give her time and her resources to women who represent the nations. Many women are in need of a second chance and only through the efforts of FYM will they be afforded an opportunity to become empowered through education and exposure. FYM is committed to the community through compassion and I am proud to support Ms. Young's efforts and I hope she is given additional opportunities to continue transforming the lives of women.

Sincerely,

Leona Baker
